About me

Frontend developer who creates clean, intuitive, and user-friendly interfaces. I work confidently with complex UI elements and focus on making interfaces fast, logical, and pleasant to use. Detail-oriented, quick to understand new tasks, and committed to delivering high-quality results. I aim to build products that look and perform better than users expect.

Experience

Frontend Development Trainee

Beetroot Academy

- Completed intensive practical training with focus on building responsive and component-based interfaces.
- Worked on team projects and a final project, applying the full cycle of frontend development and solving real UI/UX challenges.

Frontend Developer

Freelance

- Developed projects of various complexity, including a large marketplace built on Laravel Blade.
- Acted as a full-stack developer: integrated backend data, worked with databases, and connected backend APIs to frontend.
- Improved UI/UX, added new functionality, and optimized existing solutions.
- Analyzed and adapted existing code to deliver high-quality results.

Frontend Developer

Web Studio

- Worked in a team on commercial projects for clients from different industries.
- Developed interfaces, integrated functionality, and ensured responsive, user-friendly design.
- Collaborated with designers, backend developers, and project managers to deliver stable, high-quality results.
